

CompFlu is an international meeting in the interdisciplinary area of complex fluids or soft matter bringing together researchers from Engineering, Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics and Biology. CompFlu meetings have been held in India since 2002 and will now be organised under the aegis of the Indian Society of Rheology. This meeting provides a forum for soft matter researchers from academia, government research laboratories and industry to come together.

The next CompFlu meeting will be jointly organised by four major research institutions in Hyderabad - Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Hyderabad, TIFR Center for Interdisciplinary Sciences (TCIS), University of Hyderabad (UoH) and International Institute of Information Technology (IIIT)
